

URBAN SPACE BRAND GUIDELINES

One address. Four services. One brand.
Self Storage · Workspace · Fulfilment · Valet Storage.

A brand built for four services, one experience.

Urban Space has grown from a self-storage facility into a hybrid space provider. Self storage, workspace, fulfilment, and valet storage now share one roof — and one brand.

These guidelines describe the elements that make up that identity: what they are, how they fit together, and how to apply them consistently across every touchpoint, from name cards to TikTok.

This revised edition replaces the original 2026 guide. The descriptor on the master lockup has been updated to Self Storage | Workspace | Fulfilment — three words separated by pipes, with the alternating orange/grey treatment shown opposite. Valet Storage continues to sit within the Self Storage product line for descriptor purposes; see 1.6.

WHAT CHANGED IN THIS REVISION

- Descriptor punctuation is now pipes (|) — not middle dots — and reads Self Storage | Workspace | Fulfilment.
- "Self Storage" is two words, no hyphen. "Workspace" is one word, replacing "Work".
- Descriptor uses alternating colour: Self Storage in Orange, Workspace in Ink, Fulfilment in Orange.
- "URBAN" wordmark sits in Ink — not orange — alongside "SPACE", with weight as the only contrast.
- Pipe separators are rendered in light grey at 50% weight to keep the descriptor scanning as three labels, not one phrase.

A NOTE ON ADHERENCE

Adherence is not optional. The brand only compounds in value when applied consistently. Where this guide does not cover a situation, escalate to the Marketing team rather than improvise.

Making space for what matters.

Urban Space is no longer a self-storage facility. It is an integrated space provider — one address, four services, designed to flex with how people and businesses actually work today.

Our 2015 brand was built around lockers. Our 2026 brand is built around useful square footage — whether that's a self-storage unit, a hot desk, a fulfilment shelf, or a pallet we packed for a customer mid-renovation.

This is our moat. No competitor in Singapore offers all four under one roof. The brand has to make that visible.

01

Self Storage

Lockers to large units. Climate-controlled. 24/7 access.

02

Workspace

Hybrid workspace & storage. Hot desks, private workspaces.

03

Fulfilment Hub

E-commerce ops, pick-and-pack, dispatch.

04

Valet Storage

We pack, move, and store. For customers who don't need to access their items during the storage period.

Valet Storage, explained.

Valet Storage is the newest service in the Urban Space portfolio. It is a fully-managed alternative to Self Storage, designed for customers who don't need to access their belongings during the storage period — typically homeowners mid-renovation or families travelling long-term.

Some industry operators call this model "valet storage". The technical category is the same; we use the same name in our marketing because the term is already familiar to budget-conscious customers we are targeting.

HOW IT WORKS

- We arrive at the customer's home with a packing team and a truck.
- We pack their items, stack them on a pallet, and move it to our Bukit Merah facility.
- The pallet sits in long-term storage on Levels 1–2 — same square footage as Self Storage.
- When renovation finishes (or the customer returns), we move the pallet back and unpack on request.

WHO IT'S FOR

Homeowners mid-renovation. Tenants between leases. Families on an extended overseas trip. Anyone who would otherwise pay for a full-service mover plus a Self Storage unit separately — and who doesn't need to retrieve items in between.

VALET STORAGE VS. SELF STORAGE

ASPECT	SELF STORAGE	VALET STORAGE
Who packs	Customer	We do
Who moves	Customer	We do
Access	24/7, drive-in	None — pallet sealed
Pricing	Monthly by unit	Flat: pack + move + store + return
Best for	Active access, mixed use	Renovations, long trips, set-and-forget
Lives on	L1–2 customer-accessed	L1–2 back-of-house

POSITIONING

"We pack. We move. You don't lift."

The line we lead with in Valet Storage marketing. Conversational, plain-spoken, three short sentences. Use it on hero plates, ads, and the Valet landing page.

A NOTE ON THE DESCRIPTOR

The brand descriptor stays at Self Storage | Workspace | Fulfilment. Valet Storage is a delivery model of Self Storage and is covered by the first word. See 1.6 for the reasoning.

What we stand for.

Four values shape every decision we make — from how we lay out a floor plate to how we caption a TikTok. They are the test our work has to pass.

01

Useful

We measure ourselves in problems solved, not features shipped. Every square foot has a purpose.

02

Honest

Prices are published. Rates are explicit. We earn trust by removing the haggle from the category.

03

Flexible

Month-to-month, unit-to-unit, service-to-service. The space flexes around the customer, not the other way round.

04

Local

We are a Singapore brand, built around Bukit Merah and the neighbourhoods we serve. We sound like it.

How we sound.

Our voice is plain-spoken, confident, and Singaporean. It uses small words for big ideas. It never patronises and never oversells.

WE ARE

Direct	Say what we offer in the first sentence. No throat-clearing.
Specific	Real prices, real square footage, real photos. Vague is the enemy.
Warm	We talk like a neighbour who happens to own the building.
Confident	We know our space works. We don't beg.
Practical	If a sentence doesn't help the reader make a decision, cut it.

SAY THIS

"From S$60/month. Month-to-month. 24/7 access. Book online in three minutes."

WE ARE NOT

Corporate	No "leverage synergies", "best-in-class", or "solutions provider".
Cute	No puns on "space" beyond the tagline. No emoji as punctuation.
Salesy	No exclamation marks in body copy. No "limited time" pressure tactics.
Anonymous	We name our team, our locations, our customers. Real people, not stock.

NOT THIS

"Discover premium self-storage solutions tailored to your needs! Best-in-class facilities await."

One lockup. Three elements.

The Urban Space logo consists of three elements: the Icon, the Logotype, and the Descriptor. In this revision the descriptor reads Self Storage | Workspace | Fulfilment — three words separated by pipes, set in alternating Orange and Ink.

RULES FOR REPRODUCTION

- Scale only proportionately. Never stretch.
- Icon, Logotype, and Descriptor stay fixed relative to each other.
- The entire lockup is one graphic with set proportions.
- The descriptor "Self Storage | Workspace | Fulfilment" is fixed and never altered.
- Never recreate the wordmark or descriptor in another typeface.
- The pipe separators are always rendered in light grey, not orange or ink.

WHEN TO USE WHAT

Use the full lockup — Icon, Logotype, and Descriptor together — on every touchpoint at 30mm wide or larger. Below that size, use the Icon-only mark per 1.8. The wordmark and descriptor are never separated.

Set proportions. Never recreated.

All measurements are derived from the width of the Icon (X). Use these for any reproduction at any scale.

X = ICON WIDTH

All other measurements derive from this single value. Pick the X you need and everything else follows.

ICON → LOGOTYPE

The gap between the Icon and the wordmark is 0.185X.

WORDMARK → DESCRIPTOR

The vertical gap between the Logotype and the Descriptor is 0.15X.

DESCRIPTOR HEIGHT

The descriptor cap-height is 0.20X. The pipe separators sit at 50% opacity grey and align optically with the descriptor x-height.

Six approved colour versions.

Use the full-colour version wherever possible. Other versions exist for specific reproduction constraints — never as design choice.

FULL-COLOUR (CMYK / RGB)
Default. Stationery, web, ads, decks.

GREYSCALE
B&W press, single-tone reproduction.

MONO — BLACK
Single-colour print on light stock, decals.

REVERSED ON ORANGE
Brand orange backgrounds.

REVERSED ON DARK
Photography, dark UI, black stock.

MONO — WHITE
Single-colour print on dark stock, embossing.

Four services. One descriptor. One lockup.

The descriptor below the wordmark is fixed: Self Storage | Workspace | Fulfilment. Three words for four services — Valet Storage sits inside the Self Storage product line for descriptor purposes. No per-product variants, no master-without-descriptor. Every Urban Space lockup carries this exact descriptor every time it appears.

WHY A FIXED DESCRIPTOR

Our 2015 brand fixed "Self Storage" alone as the descriptor — which limited us. The unified three-word descriptor forces every touchpoint to communicate the bundle, prevents storage from defining the brand alone, and removes ambiguity from sign-off.

WHY VALET STORAGE ISN'T IN THE DESCRIPTOR

Valet Storage is a delivery model of Self Storage, not a separate category. It uses the same storage square footage on Levels 1–2 — we just pack and move for the customer. Adding a fourth word would dilute the descriptor without telling a new story.

WHY PIPES, NOT MIDDLE DOTS

Pipes (|) read as deliberate dividers between three labels — three distinct things you can buy. Middle dots felt typographic and decorative; pipes feel like menu items. Set the pipes in 50% light grey so they support, never compete.

Give the logo room to breathe.

Maintain a clear exclusion zone of 0.4X on every side, where X is the Icon width. Nothing — type, graphics, page edges, image elements — may enter this zone.

The preferred placement is the top-right corner of any communication, above all other elements including titles, graphics, and body copy.

THE CLEAR-SPACE RULE SCALES

At any size of the logo, X is the Icon width. The minimum exclusion zone is always 0.4X. Larger zones are encouraged where the layout permits.

Don't let the logo get too small.

Reproduce the full logo (with descriptor) no smaller than 30mm wide in print and 120px wide on screen.

For favicons, app icons, and other constrained surfaces below this size, use the Icon-only mark. Never reproduce the wordmark below the minimum — type legibility collapses and the brand looks degraded.

ICON-ONLY USAGE

Approved surfaces: favicons (16–48 px), social profile avatars at small sizes, app icons, embossed merchandise.

PRINT MINIMUM — 30MM WIDE

URBANSSPACE

ICON-ONLY — BELOW MIN SIZE

Favicon

App icon
~60px

Avatar / merch
200px+

DIGITAL MINIMUM — 120 PX WIDE

Below this, the descriptor compresses to a blur on standard DPI. Switch to the icon-only mark.

Pick the version that holds contrast.

Always choose the logo variant that maintains maximum legibility against its background. Use full-colour on white or very light surfaces; reversed white on orange or dark imagery; never the full-colour version on busy or mid-tone photography.

✓ WHITE / VERY LIGHT

✓ CREAM / TINTED (≤10% BLACK)

✓ BRAND ORANGE (REVERSED)

✓ DARK IMAGERY (REVERSED)

BACKGROUND RULES — ✓

Background ≤10% black, no detail within clear-space zone, relatively monotone. If you're not sure, lay a flat plate behind the logo first.

BACKGROUND RULES — ✗

Mid-tone or busy photography, gradient backgrounds that crash through the logo, anything with detail behind the descriptor text.

Our tagline.

"Making Space For What Matters" remains the brand line. It survived the 2026 repositioning and this revision intact — it works for self storage, valet storage, workspace, and fulfilment.

It conveys our promise: we don't sell square footage, we sell the room to do what matters.

RULES

- Never alter the wording or punctuation.
- Never use it linked to a single product or service.
- Never use any other tagline in advertising or marketing.
- The stacked form is preferred for square or vertical formats.
- The horizontal form is preferred for banners and footers.

MAKING
FOR WHAT MATTERS

MAKING SPACE
FOR WHAT MATTERS

Ten things never to do with the logo.

DO NOT
rotate or change the orientation of the logo.

DO NOT
stretch or distort the logo through non-proportional scaling.

DO NOT
violate the clear-space zone with type, graphics, or page edges.

DO NOT
apply drop shadows, 3D effects, embossing, or bevels.

DO NOT
use the old descriptor wording or middle-dot punctuation. Pipes only.

DO NOT
change the logo colours or use unapproved palettes.

DO NOT
retype or change the URBANSPEACE letterforms.

DO NOT
place the logo inside a containing shape that would read as part of the mark.

DO NOT
add taglines, sub-brands, or third-party text beside the lockup.

DO NOT
recolour the URBANSPEACE wordmark. It stays in Ink, never in Orange.

Orange does the heavy lifting.

Pantone 166C is the brand. The supporting palette of ink, grey, and bone should never compete — only carry copy, structure pages, and create breathing room. Functional colours are reserved for UI states and never appear in marketing creative.

INTER AT BRAND SIZES

Making space for what matters.

A heading at H2 / 18pt.

A subhead or lead paragraph.

Body copy. Long-form running text uses 10pt Inter Regular with 1.55 line height for comfortable reading on screen and in print.

CAPTION / LABEL

One hierarchy. Six roles.

Every Urban Space communication uses the same six type roles. Memorise them. Designing inside this system is faster, more consistent, and produces stronger work.

ROLE	WEIGHT	SIZE	LINE HEIGHT	USE
Display	Bold (700/800)	32–72pt	1.0–1.05	Hero headlines, cover lockups, large statements
H1	Bold (700)	22–28pt	1.05–1.1	Page titles, section openers
H2	Medium (500)	15–18pt	1.2	Sub-section headings
Lead	Regular (400)	12–14pt	1.45	Opening paragraph, intro copy
Body	Regular (400)	9–11pt	1.55	Running text
Label	Medium / Bold	7–9pt	1.3	Eyebrows, captions, navigation, callouts (UPPERCASE, +letter-spacing)

ALIGNMENT

Left-align body copy. Centre alignment only for short display lines on covers and dividers. Never justify.

COLOUR ON TYPE

Body copy is Ink (#2A2A2A). Headings can sit in Ink or Orange. Use Grey only for captions and metadata.

SECTION THREE

Marketing Collaterals

Brochures	3.1
Storage boxes	3.2
Product-line collateral	3.3

A simple, repeatable layout system that handles four products without four design languages.

A5 brochure system.

All Urban Space brochures share the same template: a single column for hero copy, a rule for the boxed callout, and a four-icon strip beneath. The frame at the centre echoes the keyline of the cube icon.

FORMAT

- A5 portrait, 148 × 210mm

- Logo top-right, 28mm wide
- Hero headline Blogger Bold 36pt
- Body text Blogger Regular 11pt / 16pt leading

BROCHURE TYPES

Two types exist: the corporate brochure (covers all four services) and product brochures (deep-dive on one service: Self Storage, Valet Storage, Workspace, or Fulfilment Hub). Both carry the same fixed lockup at top-right. The content inside changes; the brand mark never does.

Branded packaging.

Urban Space supplies branded storage boxes in three sizes. Each carries the master logo with the updated descriptor on the front face, a contents/quantity table on the top, and the website URL plus sales hotline on the side.

AVAILABLE SIZES

PRINT SPECS

Single-colour spot print on natural kraft. Logo and descriptor reproduce in white. Box panels carry the master logo on the long face, dimensions on the end, and the URL on the spine. Sales hotline appears on the lid of every box.

One shell. Four expressions.

Each product line uses the same brochure / sales-sheet shell but picks up a distinct hero treatment: a different photographic subject, a different headline angle, and the matching colour block. The frame, footer, and CTA strip never change. Valet Storage is the newest product card in the system — visually a sibling, structurally a delivery model of Self Storage.

Real people, real units, real work.

Real people, real units, real work.

Urban Space photography commits to a documentary, available-light look — close to how the space actually feels at 3pm on a Tuesday. We hire one photographer for the year and brief them on these rules. Stock libraries are off-limits.

WHAT WE SHOOT

- ✓ Our actual customers, named, with consent
- ✓ Our actual team, doing their job
- ✓ Our actual units, lit, with the door open
- ✓ Available daylight or warm overhead — no flash
- ✓ The grain of real life: a half-packed box, a coffee cup, a label printer mid-print

WHAT WE DON'T SHOOT

- ✗ Stock library photography of any kind
- ✗ Posed models with empty boxes
- ✗ Composited "lifestyle" scenes
- ✗ Hyper-saturated colour grading
- ✗ Anything that could be any storage facility anywhere
- ✗ People who don't tenant or work at Urban Space

A different subject for each service.

Each product line has its own visual subject. The look and grade are shared; the content is distinct so the viewer reads the service in one glance.

CROSS-PRODUCT HERO SHOTS

For brand-level campaigns (where all four services are shown), use a wide establishing shot of the building — exterior or atrium — rather than quartet grids that compete for attention. One image. One brand.

One approved overlay.

When type or the logo has to sit on photography, use the approved orange-tab treatment below. It guarantees legibility, holds the brand mark, and never disrupts the image.

Orange tab treatment · Meta / TikTok / website hero rotator

RULES

- The tab is always Urban Orange. Never tinted, never gradiented.
- The tab enters from the left edge. Never centred. Never floating.
- Tab height: 18–25% of image height.
- Headline inside the tab is white, Inter 800, max 3 lines.
- The icon-only mark sits bottom-right at 10% of image height.
- Never apply both the tab and a colour-wash filter to the same image.
- Where the image is itself dark and high-contrast, the tab may be omitted; place the headline in the lower-left safe area and the reversed white lockup bottom-right.

NO OTHER TREATMENTS

No colour gels, no duotones, no grain overlays, no torn-paper edges, no diagonal sign-off bars. The orange tab is the only typographic overlay in the system.

SECTION 06

Signage

Wayfinding & facility signage	6.1
Product-line zone signage	6.2

The largest, longest-lived brand surface we own.
Get the words right; the rest is engineering.

Three signage tiers.

Our facility uses three tiers: S1 façade (the building mark), S2 floor markers (lift-lobby plates for each level), and S3 wayfinding (directional arrows inside corridors). Each tier has fixed type sizes, colours, and placement.

S1 · FAÇADE

Building-mounted, illuminated, 3m wide. Sole entrance identifier. Cap height ≥50mm.

S2 · FLOOR MARKER

Lift-lobby plate. Floor number + service. Cap height ≥25mm.

S3 · WAYFINDING

Corridor arrows, dark plate, reversed type. Cap height ≥18mm.

UNIVERSAL RULES

- One typeface only — Blogger Sans Bold for legibility at distance.
- Minimum cap height 50mm for S1; 25mm for S2; 18mm for S3.
- Brand orange for primary identification, Ink for wayfinding plates, white type reversed where possible.
- Arrows on wayfinding are plain arrows (→), set in the same weight as the type, never decorative or stylised.
- Every sign carries Urban Space brand authority — no co-branded signage with tenants on shared corridors.
- Where signage carries the descriptor, it reads Self Storage | Workspace | Fulfilment (pipes, alternating colour) per 1.6.

Each floor reads as a service.

When a customer steps off the lift, the floor plate tells them what's on this level. The zone sign template is fixed: floor number, service name, single-sentence description. The colour-block matches the product card from 3.3.

Levels 1–2 · Self Storage (Valet operations share these floors back-of-house)

Level 3 · Fulfilment Hub

Level 4 · Workspace

SPECIFICATIONS

Zone signs are 900 × 600mm, 3mm aluminium composite, matte finish, vinyl applied. Floor numbers are Blogger Sans Bold at 280pt cap height. Mounted at 1.6m centre, opposite the lift doors. One sign per floor; no duplication mid-corridor.

VALET STORAGE

Valet Storage operations live in the back-of-house pallet bays on Levels 1–2. They share the Self Storage zone signage and do not require a separate floor plate. Customer-facing communication for Valet happens off-site (the home pickup) and through digital channels.

SECTION 07

Governance

Approvals & custodianship	7.1
Asset library & contact	7.2

The brand only stays consistent if someone owns it.
This section names them.

Who signs off what.

Every brand-bearing asset goes through an approval matrix before it ships. The matrix is calibrated by visibility and longevity: the bigger and longer-lived the surface, the more eyes on it.

ASSET	DRAFTED BY	APPROVED BY	SLA
Social post (organic)	Marketing Exec	Marketing Manager	Same day
Email blast	Marketing Exec	Marketing Manager	2 working days
Ad creative (paid)	Marketing Manager	Marketing Lead	3 working days
Website page	Marketing Lead	Marketing Lead + CEO	1 week
Brochure / collateral	Marketing Lead + agency	Marketing Lead + CEO	2 weeks
Press / interview	CEO	CEO	—
Signage	Marketing Lead + Facilities	CEO	4 weeks
Brand guidelines edit	Marketing Lead	CEO + Board	1 month

BRAND CUSTODIAN

The Marketing Lead is the brand custodian. They own this guide, the asset library, and the approvals queue. They are the single point of escalation for any deviation request.

DEVIATION REQUESTS

Where this guide does not cover a situation — or where a one-off case requires a deviation — request a written exception from the brand custodian. Document the exception. Add it to the next edition of the guide.

Where to find the files.

All approved assets live in the Brand Library (Google Drive, shared with the Marketing and Operations teams). Use the library as the single source of truth. Never extract logos from PDFs, screenshots, or third-party sources.

This edition supersedes Edition 02 (2026) in full. The descriptor was updated from middle-dot to pipe separators with alternating colour, and the "URBAN" wordmark restored to Ink.
